FOUNDATION

The College is founded in accordance with the provisions of the last will and testament of Moses Aaron Dropsie, an eminent citizen and lawyer, all his life resident in the City of Philadelphia, which testament was executed on September 17, 1895. He directed "that there be established and maintained in the City of Philadelphia a college for the promotion of and instruction in the Hebrew and cognate languages and their respective literatures and in the Rabbinical learning and literature." He also directed "that in the admission of students there shall be no distinction on account of creed, color or sex." Mr. Dropsie departed this life on July 8, 1905. The Charter was granted to the College June 6, 1907, under the style of The Dropsie COLLEGE FOR HEBREW AND COGNATE LEARNING, this name being selected by the Governors as a memorial to the Founder. Extracts from the Charter and the accompanying papers are printed in previous Registers and will be furnished upon application.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Lazarus, who departed this life on January 14, 1912, bequeathed her estate to the College.

BUILDING

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Students desiring to enter the College as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have a non-professional Bachelor's degree from a recognized College or University, or a certificate showing that they have pursued a course of study equivalent to that for which the Bachelor's degree is granted, and must also have a good preliminary knowledge of the Hebrew language and its literature or alternatively of some cognate language and its literature.

Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Education must have a Bachelor's degree from a recognized College or University, an adequate knowledge of the Hebrew language and its literature and practical experience in Jewish school work.

In accordance with the terms of the foundation, no distinction on account of creed, color or sex will be made in the admission of students.

Students not desiring to enter for the Doctor's degree, but possessed of sufficient knowledge to enable them to profit by the courses offered, will be received as special students.

There is no tuition fee in the College.

DEGREES

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy may be granted when the following conditions are satisfactorily complied with in addition to those mentioned as requirements for admission:

The candidate must have a knowledge of Latin and Greek and of modern languages sufficient for purposes of investigation. For candidates choosing Education as their major subject, greater stress will be laid on their knowledge of modern languages.

The candidate must have pursued advanced study and research for not less than three years, two of which must be spent in residence at the College.

Every regular student entering the College shall, after the first semester of College residence, be required to elect the department of his major studies. A Faculty Committee, of whom the major Professor shall be a member, will, after conferring with the student, designate the course of instruction in the other departments which the student will be required to pursue. The course will be planned individually for each student, who will thus be enabled to acquire not only a thorough knowledge of his major subject, but also a basic understanding of the other fields of instruction comprehended in the College program of studies.

The major subject may be taken in any of the eight departments, namely: Biblical, Rabbinical, the Cognate Languages, Assyriology and Egyptology, Jewish History, Jewish Philosophy and Hebrew Literature, Comparative Religion, and Education.

The caudidate must write a thesis upon some approved subject connected with the major or principal subject, which gives evidence of his ability to do original work, is a contribution to knowledge, and is accepted by the Faculty.

The thesis must be delivered in shape for publication, preferably in typewritten form, no later than March 1. One hundred and fifty (150) copies of the printed thesis must be delivered by the candidate before receiving his degree or a satisfactory guarantee must be given that the thesis will be printed and one hundred and fifty (150) copies delivered not later than two years from the date of the granting of the degree.

The candidate must pass an oral examination to be conducted by the Faculty.

Students who desire to appear for the final examination at the end of the academic year must file application at the Administration Office at the beginning of that year. Arrangements will then be made for a preliminary written examination to test the student's general grasp of his subjects of study, this examination to be based upon supplementary reading lists submitted to each student by his instructors at the beginning of each year. In the Department of Education, the preliminary examination will cover the following subjects: History of Education, Philosophy of Education, Educational Psychology and Jewish Education. If a student fails in one minor subject, he will be permitted to take a re-examination in that subject in a subsequent year; if he fails in a major subject or in both minors, he will be requested to take a re-examination in all his subjects in a subsequent year before being eligible for the final oral examination.

The diploma will be awarded on the Founder's Day following the oral examination.

The degree will not be given for the mere reason of long study, nor for miscellaneous studies, but on the ground of faithful study and high attainment in a special branch of learning.

RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS

In order to encourage advanced research in the various branches of Jewish learning, and to afford an opportunity to young, promising scholars who seem best qualified to make permanent contributions of value to Hebrew and cognate learning, the Dropsie College established two advanced research Fellowships in the sum of eighteen hundred dollars each per annum.

The Dropsie College established in 1943 an advanced research Fellowship to be known as the Cyrus Adder Research Fellowship. This was in commemoration of the eightieth year of the birth of the late Cyrus Adler, president of the College, and in pursuance of his lifelong aim to promote scholarship through the encouragement of young scholars of unusual promise. An additional research Fellowship was established in 1944.

These Fellowships are open to men and women under the age of forty years, irrespective of race or creed. The candidate must have the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and, in addition, will be required to submit evidence of unusual capacity for research, demonstrated by publications of high merit or through work on an important scholarly project.

The Fellow may not accept other employment and will be required to reside in Philadelphia during the tenure of his Fellowship.

Applications for the Fellowships should be made in writing to the President before November 1, 1947.

FELLOWSHIPS

Fellowships have been established by the Governors yielding six hundred dollars annually which will be awarded under the following regulations:

The candidate must have a non-professional Bachelor's degree from a recognized College or University or a certificate showing that he has pursued a course of study equivalent to that for which the Bachelor's degree is granted.

He must show by a thesis, or publication, or certificate from his instructors, a special knowledge of Hebrew or cognate studies and an aptitude for engaging in research work.

The Fellow is expected to perform such duties in the College as may be allotted to him by the President or head of his department.

He is expected to devote his time to special studies under the direction of the head of his department, and to give evidence of his progress by the preparation of a thesis, the completion of a piece of research work, the delivery of a lecture or lectures, or some other method which may be determined upon by the Faculty.

The Fellow may not accept other employment except by permission of the President, and this permission will be granted only when it is clear that it does not interfere with his College work and is in such lines as will actually further it, such as teaching his special subject.

Appointment to a Fellowship is for one year, and may be renewed at the expiration of the term, the whole tenure not to exceed four years.

Applications should be made in writing to the President before May 1 and should be accompanied by a full statement of the applicant's previous studies, of the special subject he desires to pursue, and copies of papers actually published.

Appointments to Fellowships become operative October 1 of each year.

LOUIS X. CASSETT FOUNDATION OF PHILADELPHIA

A contribution of two thousand five hundred dollars was made by the Louis N. Cassett Foundation of Philadelphia, in 1947, to the Fellowship Fund.

DAVID SHAINBERG FELLOWSHIP

A Fellowship yielding six hundred dollars annually, to be known as the David Shainberg Fellowship, was established by the Shainberg Foundation of Memphis, Tennessee, in memory of David Shainberg.

SCHOLARSHIP

Through the bequest of the late JACOB S. DREIFUS, an annual scholarship of $100.00 has been established, known as the MACK DREIFUS SCHOLARSHIP.

CALENDAR FOR ACADEMIC YEAR 1947-1948

The Academic Year will begin on Wednesday, October 1, 1947, and close on Friday, May 21, 1948.

Registration will take place on Wednesday, October 1, 1947, at 10.00 a.m.

The year will be divided into two Terms, the Second Term beginning Monday, February 2, 1948.

The Founder's Day Exercises will be held on Sunday, May 23, 1948.

LIBRARY

The Library consists of books concerned with biblical and rabbinical learning, the Semitic languages, Jewish history and Egyptology, as well as works of general reference. The collection numbers about 54,250 volumes of books and periodicals. Incorporated in the Library are the collections of Isaac Leeser, permanently deposited by the Hebrew Education Society of Philadelphia, the Hebrew collection of the late Joshua I. Cohen, M. D., of Baltimore, presented by Miss Bertha Cohen and her nieces, the valuable collection of Dr. EDUARD GLASER, the well known Arabian traveler, a selection from the Library of Judge Mayer Sulzberger, and the Library of Professor HENRY MALTER. In addition, the College has been enabled to make use of the Library of the late Professor Max L. Margolis, which is deposited in the biblical lecture room and is particularly rich in books on the Bible and its versions.

The Library now includes about 450 Fragments from the Cairo Genizah, in Hebrew and Arabic; 190 Oriental manuscripts (in Arabic, Ethiopic, Hebrew, Samaritan, Coptic, Persian, Sanscrit and Turkish); a few Fragments of Coptic Papyri; 30 Incunabula; 266 sixteenth century books; and other rarities.

The College also possesses the collection of Judge Sulz-Berger, composed mostly of Cuneiform Tablets and AsSyrian Seals, and a collection of the objects secured by Doctor Ephraim A. Speiser in the excavation of Tepe Gawra, near Mosul, undertaken under the auspices of the College and of the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania.

Among recent acquisitions by the College are three volumes of the Daniel Bamberg edition of the Babylonian Tahund (Venice 1520-1522); also the following manuscripts: a Yemenite copy of the Books of Leviticus-Deuteronomy from the collection of the late Paul Romanoff; a manuscript Mahzor of the Roman rite, dating back to the fourteenth century; a fourteenth century illuminated Mahzor of the Ashkenazic rite; a collection of Karaite prayers and piyyutim.

The use of the Library is subject to the following regulations:

Books may not be taken out of the building without the knowledge of the Librarian or his assistants.

Fellows and regular students are entitled to no more than twelve books at one time. Special students are entitled to no more than three books at one time.

Readers not connected with the College are required to obtain the permission of the Librarian for the loan of books from the Library.

Each person borrowing books is required to prepare in duplicate a loan card, bearing his name and the title of the book he wishes to borrow. The Library will retain this card until the book is returned, the loan card being returned to the reader as a receipt.

Current periodicals, journals and papers are on file in the reading room adjacent to the Library, and may not be withdrawn from that room except over night or week end.

No book may be retained longer than four weeks; no periodical longer than two weeks. They may then be renewed.

Readers will be held responsible for the good condition of the books they borrow. The privileges of the Library will be withdrawn from any one found guilty of marking, mutilating or otherwise defacing a book, and he will be expected either to replace such a book with a new copy or to pay the cost of another copy.

All books are subject to immediate recall at the discretion of the Librarian. All books are to be returned annually one week before the close of the Academic Term.

Manuscripts, rare books, incunabula, parchment prints, etc., may not be removed from the building except by special permission of the Librarian. They may be consulted on ordinary occasions only in the Library, and in the presence of the Librarian.

Reference books frequently consulted may not be removed from the building.

SECTIONAL LIBRARIES

Sectional Libraries may be formed by the Professors to be kept in their respective classrooms, but this shall only be done by withdrawing from the general collection such books as relate exclusively to the subjects they are engaged in teaching.

The Professor in charge of each Sectional Library is responsible for its safe keeping, and may on no account lend the books.

Books in the Sectional Library must be returned to the Central Library before they can be issued for use outside the office or room to which they are accredited.

The books of each Sectional Library must be kept separate from all other books in the room of the Professor, in distinct cases, the locks to be controlled by a master key in the hands of the Librarian, who may, at stated times, examine them and call the attention of the Professor to any deficiencies

NEW DEPARTMENTS

The Department of Jewish Philosophy and Hebrew Literature was established in 1941-1942. In 1942-1943, there was added the Department of the History of Semitic Civilization, and in 1944-1945, the Department of Assyriology and Egyptology, and the Department of Comparative Religion. The most recent addition is the Department of Education inaugurated in 1945-1946.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Through this Department, integrated with the other courses of instruction, the Dropsic College aims to train experienced educators with knowledge and perspective, who will function as superintendents and supervisors of Jewish education on a community-wide basis. Experimentation and creative thinking in Jewish education will be encouraged through seminars, research and field work. The ultimate result, it is hoped, will be a more widespread understanding of Judaism and greater vision in meeting the Jewish problems as well as the more general moral and religious problems of a free democratic society.

COURSES OF STUDY

BIBLICAL DEPARTMENT

Academic Year 1947-1948

Hebrew Grammar. Phonology, including orthography. A detailed study of the Hebrew characters, their sounds and modifications. Based on the grammars of Gesenius-Bergträsser and Bauer-Leander. Professor Reider. Two hours weekly.

The Minor Prophets. Micah-Maleachi. A philological and exegetical interpretation of these books, in the light of the ancient versions, medieval and modern commentaries, as well as epigraphic material. Professor Reider. Two hours weekly.

The Aramaic Language of the Babylonian Talmud. Grammatical and syntactical treatment of the Aramaic idiom of the Babylonian Talmud, followed by readings of Aggadic texts. Textbooks: A Manual of the Aramaic Language of the Babylonian Talmud, by Max L. Margolis (München 1910); A Grammar of the Aramaic Idiom contained in the Babylonian Talmud, by C. Levias (Cincinnati 1900). Professor Reider. One hour weekly.

Research Course. This course is intended for candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy choosing Bible as their major. Questions arising in the course of preparing theses, the subjects of which have been approved by the Faculty, will be taken up for discussion. Professor Reider. One hour weekly.

RABBINICAL DEPARTMENT

Academic Year 1947-1948

The History and Development of the Halakah. This course will embrace the entire Halakah from the time of the destruction of the Temple to the compilation of the Talmud. Stress will be laid upon the principles of tannaitic and amoraic jurisprudence and its development. A thorough study will be made of the various schools, particularly of the academies of Sura and Pumbeditha. An analytic study will be made of the organization and character of the Mishna, the Tosefta, the Talmud of Babylon and the Talmud of Palestine. The Halakot found in the apocryphal literature, in Philo, Josephus and in various Targumim will be expounded. Students will be expected to present papers on the sources and the literature. While this is part of the general course on the history and development of the Halakah, it may be taken independently. Professor Zeitlin. Two hours weekly.

Talmud Babli, Tractate Sanhedrin. With the standard commentaries, pursued along historical and critical lines. Variant readings, as recorded by Rabbinovicz in his Variac Lectiones, will be carefully examined. In the study of this tractate the organization of the courts in Palestine during the Second Commonwealth will be discussed. Professor Zeitlin. Two hours weekly.

Introduction to the Apocrypha. This course will be divided into two parts: I. A general introduction to the apocryphal and apocalyptic literature and their historical backgrounds. II. An analysis of each book from the point of view of contents and date. Rabbinical parallel passages will be compared, and the influence of this literature on the Church and the Synagogue will be traced. Professor Zeitlin. One hour weekly.

Research Course. This course is intended for candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy choosing rabbinical subjects for their theses. Professor Zeitlin. By appointment.

DEPARTMENT OF COGNATE LANGUAGES

ACADEMIC YEAR 1947-1948

Elementary Arabic. A study of the elements of Arabic grammar; easy prose texts with grammatical analysis. First Term: a thorough study of the inflection of the verb in all the conjugations. Second Term: formation and inflection of the noun, with special attention to the broken plurals, and written exercises in translating from English into Arabic. Textbook: Socin's Arabic Grammar. Professor Skoss. Two hours weekly.

Intermediate Arabic. Reading and interpretation of the Koran, with reference to etymology and syntax (First Term). Exercises in reading unvocalized selections from Bruennow-Fischer's Arabische Chrestomathie (Second Term). Professor Skoss. One hour weekly.

Advanced Arabic. Reading selections from Shahrastānī's Kitāb al-Milal wa'n-Nihal (Book of Religions and Sects), edited by Cureton, accompanied by a study of the rise and development of the more important sects in Islam. Professor Skoss. One hour weekly.

Judaeo-Arabic. Advanced course. Prerequisite: a knowledge of unvocalized Arabic. Selections from Dalālat al-Ha'irin (Moreh Nebukim) of Maimonides will be read and analyzed. Professor Skoss. One hour weekly.

Advanced Syriae. Texts to be selected to meet the needs of the students. Professor Skoss. One hour weekly.

Elementary Ethiopie. Grammar and reading of easy prose texts. Textbook: Chaine's Grammaire éthiopienne, with reference to Praetorius and Dillmann-Bezold. Professor Skoss. One hour weekly.

Research Course. This course is intended for candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy choosing subjects in Arabic for their theses and for other advanced students. Professor Skoss. By appointment.

HISTORICAL DEPARTMENT

ACADEMIC YEAR 1947-1948

History of the Jews in Palestine and Babylonia. This will be a continuation of the course announced in the previous academic year but may be taken independently. It will embrace the period of the later Tannain in Palestine to the close of the Talmud in Babylon. A study will be made of the institution of the Patriarchate in Palestine, the systematization of the Halakah, the redaction of the Mishna, and the subsequent development of the Babylonian academies and the redaction of the Talmud. The contrasting political and cultural background in Palestine and Babylonia will be studied and related to the respective communal and social institutions of the Jews in these countries. Professor Neuman. Two hours weekly.

History of the Jews in Spain. This course will deal primarily with the social, economic and cultural institutions of the Jews in Medieval Spain. The students will be trained in the study of the original sources for purposes of historic reconstruction. Professor Neuman. Two hours weekly.

Readings in Hebrew Historical Sources. A survey of Hebrew historical literature will be followed by a reading of selected historical texts. Neubauer's Medieval Jewish Chronicles will be used as the source book. Professor Neuman. One hour weekly.

Research Course. This course is intended for consultation with students in the preparation of a thesis in the Historical Department and for other students engaged in special research. Professor Neuman. By appointment.

HISTORY OF SEMITIC CIVILIZATION

Academic Year 1947-1948

History of Hebrew Civilization in Biblical Times. This course will trace the early origins of Hebrew civilization in Palestine. It will deal in particular with oral literature, pre- and post-literate, the origins of the alphabet and the history of writing, Hebrew numerals, calendar and chronology, time-measurement and metrology, and other rudimentary elements of science and knowledge. Professor Gandz. Two hours weekly.

Introduction to the History of Mathematics. Dealing especially with Babylonian notation and the history of the sexagesimal system, the Hindu-Arabic numerals and the completion of the decimal system by the introduction of the decimal fractions. Professor Gandz. One hour weekly.

DEPARTMENT OF JEWISH PHILOSOPHY AND HEBREW LITERATURE

ACADEMIC YEAR 1947-1948

Prophecy in Medieval Jewish Philosophy. A study of the Aristotelian theory of dreams, its application by the Arabs to the problem of prophecy, and the controversy among Jewish philosophers—Isaac Israeli, Abraham ibn Daud, and particularly Maimonides, on the one hand, and Yehudah Halevi and Hasdai Crescas, on the other—as to the nature of prophetic visions. Professor Efros. Two hours weekly.

Beginnings of Modern Hebrew Literature. A study of the period extending from M. H. Luzzatto to S. D. Luzzatto and particularly of the forces and movements that gave rise to a new style, a new dramatic poetry and a new philosophical outlook. Professor Efros. One hour weekly.

DEPARTMENT OF ASSYRIOLOGY AND EGYPTOLOGY

ACADEMIC YEAR 1947-1948

Old Babylonian. A beginner's course consisting of the grammar and reading of Hammurapi's Code. Hebrew law will be compared. Professor Gordon. Two hours weekly.

Accadian Seminar. A study of the Nuzu contracts and their biblical parallels. Professor Gordon. One hour weekly.

Coptic. Grammar and reading of texts. The aim of this course is to provide a background for the study of the earlier and more problematic stages of Egyptian. Professor Gorbon. One hour weekly.

History of the Middle East during the Second Millennium B.C.E. Mesopotamia, Asia Minor, Syria, Palestine and Egypt: their internal development and interrelation. Professor Gordon. One hour weekly.

Hamito-Semitic Seminar. Linguistic problems, in the individual languages, as well as of a comparative nature, will be treated in accordance with the students' needs. Professor Gordon. One hour weekly.

DEPARTMENT OF COMPARATIVE RELIGION ACADEMIC YEAR 1947-1948

Introduction to Comparative Religion. A survey of the methods and procedures of Comparative Religion and of the fundamental concepts and institutions of organized religions in the light of comparative research, e.g., definitions of religion; its communal and individual aspects; its social and economic function; ritual and myth; forms of sacrifice and prayer; ideas of God; types of gods; revelation and authority; ethics and morality; kingship; ancestor-worship; totemism; cosmology and eschatology; survival and superstition. Special attention will be paid to the illustration of Biblical and Ancient Near Eastern religions. Professor Gaster. One hour weekly.

The Bible in the Light of Ancient Near Eastern Religion. Selected passages of the Bible will be studied against the background of what is now known concerning the religious beliefs and practices of the Mesopotamians, Canaanites, Egyptians and Hittites. Special attention will be paid to parallels and survivals in ritual and myth and to the interpretation of the material in the light of comparative religion and folklore. First Term: Pentateuch and Psalms. Second Term: Prophets. Professor Gaster. Two hours weekly.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Academic Year 1947-1948

History of Educational Ideas in Modern Times. The development of educational conceptions will be traced through modern times from the Renaissance until World War I in the light of changes in social life and in pattern of ideas. Special attention will be given to the effect of national organization of education on the religious aspects of education. Influences of changes of the character of public education on Jewish education will be noted. Professor Berkson. Two hours weekly, Contemporary Educational Philosophies and Movements. The first semester will be devoted to an analysis of diverse conceptions of educational philosophy and to a consideration of the major philosophic positions—idealism, realism, pragmatism, neo-scholasticism—which lie back of American educational theory and practice. The second semester will treat of recent trends in social life and thought and their effect on educational theory. Various aspects of the current educational controversies will be discussed. Emphasis will be placed on the implications of democracy as a social philosophy for general and Jewish education. (The semesters may be taken separately by special arrangement). Professor Berkson. Two hours weekly.

Education and the Problem of Jewish Adjustment. This will be a continuation of the course given in 1946-1947 and will deal with the problem of Jewish adjustment from the end of the nineteenth century to the present time. The issues which face Jewish life—particularly in Palestine and the United States—will be related to the problem of Jewish education in each country. This course will be conducted as a practicum with discussions based on students' reports. Professor Berkson. Two hours weekly.

Seminars. A seminar will be arranged for candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy choosing Education as their major. Professors Berkson and Honor. Hours to be arranged.

Curriculum Construction. Analysis of the construction of the curriculum from the standpoint of subject matter, student growth and community need, with special reference to the setting up of criteria for curriculum construction and reorganization. First Term. Professor Honor. Two hours weekly.

Jewish School Curricula. A critical examination of type curricula of current Jewish schools in America in the light of principles discussed in the course on Curriculum Construction. Attention will be given to the setting up of criteria for developing curricula which will meet the needs of American Jewish children. Second Term. Professor Honor. Two hours weekly.

Teaching of Jewish History. An examination of the meaning and method of history; an analysis of the purpose and place of Jewish history in the curriculum of the Jewish schools; consideration of methods of presentation, with special emphasis on ways and means of making the study of Jewish history concrete and vivid. This course will be conducted as a practicum, with discussions based on students' reports. Professor Honor. Two hours weekly.

Jewish Education from a Community Standpoint. An analysis of functions and responsibilities of a central community agency for Jewish education with special reference to the setting up of standards. Consideration will be given to the types of service which the central community agency should render towards improving the work of existing schools, developing new educational facilities and opportunities and coordinating the programs of Jewish educational institutions with the programs of other agencies in the community which affect the development of personality. First Term. Professor Honor. Two hours weekly.

Surveys of Jewish Education. Analysis of methods of research and evaluation of trends in American Jewish education through an examination of recent surveys of Jewish education, in large, medium and small communities. Second Term. Professor Honor. Two hours weekly.

Educational Psychology. Emphasis is placed upon the nature of the learning process, the principles governing learning, the methods of measuring rate and amount of learning, and experimental results; with implications for the school curriculum and the teaching methods. First Term. Professor McMullin. Two hours weekly.

Psychology of Social and Emotional Behavior. Aspects of the psychology of social and emotional behavior which are important for teachers are selected for study, and emphasis is placed upon their implications for the problems of the learning-teaching situation. Second Term. Professor McMullin. Two hours weekly.

SUMMER SESSION

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

In order to encourage the continued development and growth of professional workers in the field of Jewish education and to enable students who are candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy to utilize the summer vacation, a special Summer Session was inaugurated during the summer of 1946.

The following courses will be conducted in the Department of Education over a period of five weeks, from Monday, July 14, to Friday, August 15, 1947. A semester unit credit is allowed for each course satisfactorily completed.

COURSES OF STUDY

1947 SUMMER SESSION

Administration and Supervision of the Jewish School. An analysis of principles governing the administration of a school with special reference to the problems of the Jewish school. Emphasis is placed on ways and means of providing opportunities for creative work in education through encouraging teacher participation in policy making and curriculum construction. Professor Leo L. Honor in conjunction with Doctor Azriel Eisenberg, Doctor Louis L. Kaplan and Doctor Alexander J. Stoddard. Six hours weekly.

Jewish Education from a Community Standpoint. An analysis of functions and responsibilities of a central community agency for Jewish education. Professor Leo L. Honor. Six hours weekly.

The Progressive Movement in Education. The course will deal with the philosophical and the psychological basis for progressive education and its implications in practice, for various age groups and for various types of educational activities. Professor Joseph B. Butterweck. Six hours weekly.

History and Development of Halakah. An analysis of the development of Halakah from its early origins to the close of the Geonic Period. Special stress will be laid on the various schools of thought, their legal principles, their methodology and interpretation of the law. The course will also include a study of the differences in the Halakah as recorded in the Talmud and as reflected in the Apocrypha literature. Professor Solomon Zeitlin. Four hours weekly.

Palestine and the Middle East. Contemporary Palestine and its relations with the Islamic, and especially the Arabic nations; the roles of Britain, Russia, France and the United States. Professor Cyrus H. Gordon. Four hours weekly.

PUBLICATIONS

The College is continuing the publication of the Jewish Quarterly Review, which had been issued in England for a period of twenty years. The Quarterly provides a medium for the publication in the English language of articles and reviews in the interest of Jewish literature. history and religion, Hebrew philology and kindred subjects. The New Series began with the number for July, 1910. Thirty volumes were issued under the editorship of the late President of the College, Doctor Cyrus Adler. Beginning with Volume XXXI, the Quarterly has been under the joint editorship of Professors Abraham A. Neuman and Solomon Zeitlin, with the aid of eminent scholars. The thirty-eighth volume is now in course of publication. The subscription price is five dollars per annum. Back volumes of the New Series can be furnished to subscribers.

CO-OPERATION

The College aims to co-operate with all existing institutions and departments of universities having similar objects, and also with primary and secondary Jewish schools in the hope of developing a consistent system whereby Hebrew learning in all its stages may be advanced.

Fellows and regular students of the Dropsie College, who are candidates for degrees, will be permitted to attend courses in the Semitic Department of the University of Pennsylvania without payment of fees.

Students of the University may attend any of the courses at the Dropsie College free of charge.

Co-operation in building up their respective libraries, in the matter of application for Fellowships, and in other respects has also been agreed upon, and these plans have received the approval of the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Governors of the Dropsie College.

RESEARCH

All of the instruction in the College will be of post-graduate standard and time will be afforded to Professors. Fellows and students for original investigation and research, which will be furthered as one of the fundamental purposes of the institution.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

A society composed of the holders of degrees and former Fellows has been formed, under the name of the Alumni Association of the Dropsie College for Hebrew and Cognate Learning, for the purpose of advancing the interests, influence and efficiency of the College and furthering the spirit of friendship among its graduates, Fellows, students and friends. It was organized on Founder's Day, March 9, 1925.

The present officers are:

President, Doctor Pinchos Wechter Vice-President, Doctor Joseph Diamond Secretary-Treasurer, Professor Joseph Reider

The members of the Executive Committee are:

Doctor Mortimer J. Cohen
Doctor Joseph Diamond
Doctor Solomon Grayzel
Professor Joseph Reider
Doctor Pinchos Wechter, ex officio
